

PAULA HANTMAN TOLLE

Paula has been in the art, antiques, and auction field since the 1980s as founder and President of Hantman Auctioneers and Appraisers and a senior appraiser with the American Society of Appraisers. During her career she has appraised personal property for museums, private clients, insurance companies, estates, and collectors internationally. After closing Hantman Auctioneers she affiliated with Christie's Long and Foster International Real Estate from which she recently retired. She continues to appraise and broker personal property for clients needing international exposure.

She spends her time now as a jazz singer, painter, photographer, reader, and writer and looks forward to being able to travel again and spend time with her grandchildren, especially those in Vancouver.
