

ROSEMARY KIMBALL

Rosemary Kimball spent her working life doing media relations at the Federal Communications Commission. Her career started when "Ma Bell" was THE phone company and ended with the nation's transition to digital TV.

She is originally from Boston and graduated from Mount Holyoke College.

She retired from the FCC in 2011 and enjoys spending time with her two grandchildren and, until recently, traveling.